CHINA

in 2025

NATIONAL OBJECTIVES

These objectives are important. You will succeed in this game only if you achieve one or more of your national objectives– the more objectives you achieve the better you will have done.

Failing to at least try to follow your objectives may unrest in your country and reduce your PR Score, and in the worst case bring about the collapse of your government (putting you out of power).

General Principles

- China does not like foreign interventions or military adventures. It will avoid deploying conventional troops outside China if at all possible.
- In international crises it is China's position that discussion is always better than using military force. However, China will contribute its fair share to peace keeping and disaster relief operations.
- China's nuclear weapons are an important symbol of national pride and authority. Under no circumstances will China give up its nuclear weapons.

Specific Objectives

- Ensure that China is taken seriously as a world power.
- Ensure that Russia does not gain a technological advantage over us by doing more science, or gaining more Nobel Prizes.
- Do whatever is necessary for humanity to prevail.

WHAT DO WE KNOW ABOUT ALIENS?

The existence of extraterrestrial aliens has been known about by our secret intelligence service since 1958.

Despite one or two minor 'incidents' which have been hushed up, there has been little contact with the aliens.  We don't bother them and they don't bother us.

However, over the last couple of years something has changed, and the aliens have become much more aggressive.

Sightings have increased massively and the general public have been demanding to know the truth.  We have not yet admitted to the general public that aliens really exist

In response to the increased threat from the aliens abducting people and terrorising cities, our scientists and engineers have developed some very advanced weapons that we can use to defend ourselves against the aliens.

But these super-advanced weapons are very very expensive and difficult to build and we only have a few of them.
